

Tonight as I was channel surfing I continued to see scenes from a horrible show called "Drawn Together" on Comedy Central. The show is utterly and completely animated porn and should absolutely be pulled from the air. It was absolutely ridiculous. The first time flipping channels, there were 2 cartoon women kissing in a hot tub as men leared around. The second time, there were two people in a car, one with their pants down obviously about to engage in anal sex. The third time they showed a woman masturbating in front of a man.

This is the most ridiculous and disgusting thing I've seen on TV and I think it's pretty interesting that I saw so much offensive material even when I was turning the channels quickly as I could. A person should be able to search for something on TV without seeing glimpses of unfiltered pornographic cartoons guised as comedy. This is pathetic and Comedy Central should pull this show and be fined for their mistreatment and abusive attitude toward the public.

I cannot believe a corporate board sat around a table and said, "yes, this is the most marketable thing we can place on the air." The FCC is a defunct organization if it does not enforce its regulations to protect the public trust.
